October 2024 - project update

Consultation open on the updated concept plan and clubhouse design

Feedback on the initial concept plan released for consultation back in February / March 2024 identified the following as key themes for the project.

- Preserving the oval for community club sports, general community use for recreation, physical activity, and dog exercise
- Retaining the community courts, playground, rose garden and cricket nets
- Improving car parking and traffic management around the site
- Focusing on improving landscaping and screening plants to the northern and western boundaries of the site
- Improving security and lighting

The community feedback report is available for your review.

Council have used these key feedback themes to further develop the concept plan and the clubhouse design.

The concept design that has been developed:

- Provides a new clubroom building
- Retains the oval in its current form
- Retains the community courts, playground, rose garden and cricket nets
- Increases the number of car parks around the building as well as Margaret Street
- Removes the old buildings from the site and includes new screening plants
- Provides improved layout to address security concerns

The design team has carefully crafted the concept to reflect the heritage bungalow-style housing common in the area, ensuring the development blends seamlessly into the local suburb. Drawing inspiration from Adelaide Oval, the design incorporates red brick, iconic trees, native plants and integrated pathways.

This approach respects the architectural character of the neighbourhood but also intends to deliver a sense of local pride, enhancing the value and appeal of the Glandore Oval development for residents who cherish the unique identity of their community and the oval.
